Why CoCs Received Increased Funding

CoCs with higher CoC Application scores:

- Reduced homelessness in their communities
- Used performance criteria to rank projects
- Used Housing First practices
- Increased RRH units
- Reallocated lower performing projects

FY2023 CoC NOFO
Local Competition

Local Competition

- CoCs should rank projects based on performance and need
- CoCs should review project applications
- HUD looks to make sure all local deadlines are met; it is important attachments are clear

Reallocation

- Reallocation is the process by which a CoC shifts funds in whole or in part from existing CoC-funded projects that are eligible for renewal to create one or more new projects.

  - Makes the CoC Program more competitive and ensures that lower performing projects are not automatically renewed.

  - Ensures that housing and services strategies are more cost effective to achieve the same or better outcomes.

- CoCs should strive to match their inventory of projects to the needs of people experiencing homelessness.

HUD Policy and Program Priorities – FY2022
